

What Type of Instrument to Choose

Canal

Half Shell

Full Shell

C-I-C

B-T-E

We know it can be very confusing when it comes time to decide upon which hearing aid to purchase. Perhaps you've seen advertising for one type; your best friend swears by the kind he has; you've always wanted to try yet another style; then you went and had your hearing tested and the person tried to sell you something that cost two or three times the price of your first new car...on top of that, there's all this new technology...

WHAT TO DO?

You want the best help for your individual hearing loss within a budget you can afford. Help for your hearing should be the first concern...visibility and cosmetics second. We have access to most every kind and style of hearing aid being made. In almost every case there's a choice between many hearing instruments that can work for a person. To help guide you, any of the above In-the-Ear instruments will work for mild hearing losses. But when a loss gets more severe, we generally start eliminating the smaller ones.

Feel free to contact us for a no-obligation consultation. The more we know about your hearing loss, the better able we are to make solid recommendations. Allow us to put our experience to work for you. Lloyd's specializes in working closely with our customers to assure you receive the very best instruments to do the proper job, but at the best prices anywhere in the nation.

OUR GOAL IS YOUR SATISFACTION